

Monastery of St. Antony and St. Cuthbert
The Brotherhood of the Glorious Apostles Peter and Paul

From Fr. Philip: Winter 2019

Psalm 147:

He giveth His snow like wool; the mist He sprinkleth like ashes. He hurleth His ice like morsels. Who shall stand before His cold? He shall send forth His word and melt them; His wind shall blow and the waters shall flow.

The Cold has started! However, that has not put people off visiting the Monastery. It is hoped that lots of people will visit us and stay with us and join us with the services, the Bible Study, the daily work schedule, developing the grounds, as we all learn to pray and draw nearer to God.

This is a beautiful place. It is surprisingly quiet (unless the birds, owls, deer or foxes are making themselves known), it is very dark at night (we can see the Milky Way), and the air is either very clear or full of fog which means we can either see for miles or barely beyond our own noses!

If you'd like to be part of this then please pray for us and think about visiting or supporting us in some other way.

God bless you!

Fr. Philip
